

Aichi Cancer Center, Palliative Care Center
for students and general

Book Report Contest

Call for works 2021.8

No Writing, No Learning

Holding purpose: We want many people to learn about cancer survival by reading manga and hope it would be a trigger to study cancer spontaneously.

Set book: Brian Fies. Mom's Cancer, Abrams, 2006 (You could find Japanese, German, and Italian translations. The patients and the member of Aichi Cancer Center could borrow Japanese from its library in July and August.)

Please read the back of the application for details. (Offer period 2021.8.23-31)

Organized by: Aichi Cancer Center, Palliative Care Center (1-1, Kanokoden, Chikusa-ku, Nagoya-City, Aichi, Japan, 464-8681)

Cooperation: Aichi Cancer Center, The Library

Application guidelines

Application qualifications: the students and the general public.

Number of letters: Up to 800 letters in Japanese (about 500 words in English), written on one sheet, word processor accepted. In case you couldn't write Japanese, please use English. Address, name, age, school name+grade or workin place, e-mail address on the back. If you want to use a pseudonym at the time of publication, please describe it.

Entries: Please include the following contents in Japanese or English after reading "Mom's Cancer".
(1) Where is the most impressive page, (2) what the author thinks there, (3) why are you interested there, (4) what have you found there? We will not return it.

Work submission: 2021.8.23-31 Post to a special box in Aichi Cancer Center, 2nd floor, Palliative Care Center. Or mail to the below: 2021 Book Report Contest, Aichi Cancer Center, Palliative Care Center, Kanokoden, Chikusa-ku, Nagoya-City, Aichi, Japan 464-8681.

Examination: Examination of the entry will be held at the Palliative Care Center in September.

Winning announcement: planned in early October on the web site of Palliative Care Center.
<https://www.pref.aichi.jp/cancer-center/hosp/02shinryo/kakuka/pcc.html>

Awards Ceremony: We will exchange the certificate and the prize by mail. Winners in each category will receive one gold award book ticket for 3,000 yen, one silver award for 2,000 yen, and one bronze award for 1000 yen.

About the copyright of the winning work: The copyright of the winning work will be transferred to the organizer at the same time as the election.

About use, publication such as prize-winning work and full name: In a publication or a web site, we publish Work, full name, grade of person. Also, TV, radio, magazines, books, teaching materials, publications we may use and announce by various media.