

Always be prepared for disaster

Are you prepared for a typhoon?

Do you know where your nearest evacuation site is?

Are you prepared for a big downpour?

Pay attention to information about the weather and disaster updates on your TV or radio, and act accordingly.

Stay home until the police or authorities contact you to evacuate, but be prepared to evacuate at any time.

Evacuate immediately if you feel you are in danger, especially near a river or on a hillside or a slope.

When you evacuate, make sure to put out all open flame and lock your doors. Wear clothing that permits easy movement, and evacuate in groups.
